

What's your motivation?

As an educator, we know that you are really motivated by your love of helping a child learn and grow. You are selfless in your commitment to expanding the knowledge base of the children & youth that you take on. Your dedication to children is great but what motivates you when the children are not listening, your co-workers, administration or even worse the parents are not satisfied? We know as an educator you need freedom to express yourself through your teaching style, decorating your teaching space, and let's face it someone to say Thank YOU for what you do. You need someone to respect you, challenge, you and give you the tools to succeed the same way you do for children in your care. Let AYCE be first to say we appreciate you. We appreciate the countless hours you spend coming up with fresh ideas, the money from your own pocket buying materials and special items for treasure boxes and lesson plan activities, and the way that you tirelessly and selflessly give your time and love to others. We know that you are out there giving it your all. Let us spend one day pampering & giving back to you. Spend a day with us learning how you can incorporate some fresh fun and above all activities that children/youth & teens will want to participate in. Come laugh with us, come dance with us, come and share with us. Join us in "IGNITING TEAM SPIRIT".
